Fixed Income Market

The main highlight in January 2011 was the Credit and Monetary Policy released by Reserve Bank of India. As expected, RBI hiked the Repo and Reverse Repo rates by 25 bps each, keeping CRR unchanged. Currently, the Repo rate stands at 6.5% and Reverse Repo at 5.5%. These measures are expected to help in controlling inflation with minimum impact on growth.

RBI has revised WPI inflation target for March 2011 from 5.5% to 7%. On the growth front, GDP in India grew by 8.9% during the first half of 2010-11. This reflects strong domestic demand, private consumption and investment and improving external demand. Robust corporate sales, high tax collections, advance tax payments and leading indicators of Service sector suggest persistence of growth momentum. The growth rate target for current fiscal, as per RBI policy document, is at 8.5%.

The IIP (Index of Industrial Production) for month of November surprised market on the downside by recording a low growth of 2.7%. Manufacturing and Electricity sectors showed a slowdown. The October IIP was revised to 11.3% from 10.8%. Higher food prices reversed the decelerating trend in headline inflation. The monthly inflation rose to 8.4% in December from 7.5% in November. High food prices seem to have become structural in nature. With rise in fuel prices, inflation is expected to be on the higher side.

As per RBI data, the credit growth was at 23.6% and deposit growth at 16.4% (y-o-y). The Forex reserves are at $299 billion. Liquidity has been negative in the system by more than INR 100,000 crores, higher than RBI's comfort level, largely due to Equity IPO's, regular central government borrowing and high Cash Reserve Ratio (CRR).

Tight liquidity conditions continue to exert pressure at the shorter end of the yield curve. In an effort to mobilize deposits, banks have been increasing the rate on fixed deposits. While the ten year corporate bond is trading at 9.10%, the one year CD's are trading at 10%. The three month CDs are trading in the 9.60% to 9.75% range. As such, the yield curve has turned inverted.

Equity Markets

The domestic equity markets corrected sharply by over 10% in January 2011. The improvement in macro-economic scenario from developed economies triggered a sell off from FIIs (around $1 bn), amidst concerns of rising domestic inflation and interest rates. The sell off was absorbed by domestic institutions, to some extent. The Q3 FY 2011 corporate results were, by and large, neutral to negative. This added to the discomfort on company valuations.

On the international front, high crude oil and commodity prices are a point of concern both for the Government's fiscal deficit as well as Inflation.

The sectors which outperformed broader Equity Indices in January were Information Technology, Fast Moving Consumer Goods (FMCG) and Pharmaceuticals. The Automobiles, Construction and Capital Goods sector were underperformers.

The Information Technology (IT) sector outperformed largely on account of the depreciating INR and being a defensive play on developed markets. The third quarter results of IT companies were a mixed bag. Infosys and Wipro disappointed over growth in volumes while TCS and HCL Technologies delivered positive surprises.

The results of some of the FMCG companies have been slightly disappointing as rising raw material prices led to a decline in margins and profitability. The upcoming budget and expectations of an excise duty hike remains a short term risk. The results for many pharmaceutical companies were below expectations. However, these were on account of company specific issues and not due to any industry wide negatives.

The Automobile sector was among the top performers in 2010. However, the sector faces input cost pressures due to rising steel prices, spike in fuel prices and an adverse impact of rising interest rates. The Construction and Capital Goods sector has been affected on account of slow order inflows and deterioration in margins due to rising input costs.

Outlook on Debt Markets

Going ahead, we expect robust economic growth to continue. Stronger exports, PMI and growth in non-food credit are expected to keep IIP in double digits (on a cumulative basis). The headline inflation is going to be a major concern. The recovery in global economies can lead to higher commodity prices, which will put pressure on inflation. Rising fuel prices can put added pressure on inflation.

Going forward, we expect RBI to continue with the monetary tightening policy. Short term bond yields seem to have peaked. We expect the yields to decline, once the liquidity situation improves. Currently the 10 year GSec is trading around 8.15%. We expect bond yields to be range bound with an upward bias.

Outlook on Equity Markets

The poor start in January has put concerns on near term Equity market performance. The sectors that have corrected sharply are Construction, Capital Goods and Real Estate. We expect companies in Construction and Capital Goods sector with long term revenue visibility, strong financials and reasonable valuations to do well.

We are positive on the IT sector as economic data points from US indicate improving corporate health, and resultant increase in IT budgets. The higher growth visibility supports the higher multiple accorded to the sector. Over a medium to long term perspective, Consumer companies are expected to benefit from rising per capita income and increasing rural penetration.

We believe that most negatives are priced in the current valuations. Equity valuations appear attractive from a 2-3 years perspective. However, markets are expected to remain volatile. We remain cautiously optimistic on equities, going forward.
