Fixed Income Market

The month of May continued with a negative spell for overall economy with growth continuing on a downward trend, currency depreciating by 6.4 percent, current account deficit widening and increasing concerns over revival of world economy. The GDP growth number for last quarter came in significantly lower than expectation. This acted as a positive trigger for the bond market, leading to decline in bond yields and thereby, increases in GSec and corporate bond prices. The 10 year benchmark yield fell by 17 basis points.

There was a sharp fall in fourth quarter GDP growth to 5.3 percent against consensus expectation of 6.1 percent. This was even lower than GDP growth of 5.6 percent achieved during credit crisis period (Q3 FY2008). The lower GDP growth in Q4 has resulted in overall FY2012 growth of 6.5 percent. This is significantly lower than GDP growth of 8.4 percent in FY2011. The weak GDP growth number continues to reflect persistent slowdown in economic activity in the country.

Coupled with slow growth in GDP, the headline WPI inflation increased to 7.23 percent in April compared to 6.90 percent in March. In addition to this, depreciation of INR along with increase in fuel prices is expected to add to inflationary pressures, going forward. Decreasing exports, increasing imports and decline in foreign investments continues to put further pressure on INR.

The overall economic situation remained dismal in May 2012. The deteriorating international environment continues to be a big overhang on Indian economy.

Equity Market

The escalating worries of Greece exiting from Eurozone created significant tension in global markets. Major global equity indices declined by 6-7% during the month. The Nifty Index corrected by 6.2% during the month. Crude oil prices (Brent crude) declined sharply by around 15%, as Eurozone turbulence coupled with sluggish US economic recovery made investors nervous.

On the domestic front, the month of May saw a slew of negative data releases. Growth concerns resurfaced, with India's economic growth rate slipping to 5.3% in fourth quarter, pulling down annual growth rate to 6.5%. This is the lowest GDP growth rate in last nine years. The dip in growth rate was mainly due to poor performance of manufacturing and farm sectors. Inflation remained high at 7.23% in April compared to 6.89% in March, largely on account of higher prices of primary articles. The Index of Industrial Production (IIP) growth fell to -3.5% in March '12 compared to 4.1% rise in the previous month. The situation was further worsened by depreciation of INR, which lost 6.6% in May. This was largely on account of worsening Current Account Deficit.

FIs were net sellers with a net outflow of USD 70mn, as compared to an outflow of USD 250mn in the previous month.

Sectoral Performance

The Government announced final subsidy sharing details for Oil Marketing Companies, with 60% share to be borne by Government and 40% share by upstream companies. This cleared the uncertainty around subsidy sharing and was taken positively by the market. In the steepest ever increase, petrol prices were raised by Rs 6.28/litre, excluding local sales tax. This was the first hike in rates in last six months. The BSE Oil Index outperformed the market during the month.

The Automobile sector significantly underperformed broader market on the back of sedate growth numbers and disappointing quarterly results from some of the automobile companies. The growth in this sector was quite strong in March and April, largely due to pre-budget buying. However, the trend was weak in May owing to rise in fuel prices and the economic slowdown. Going forward, the progress on monsoon and trend in fuel prices remain key measurables for the Automobile sector.

The Banking stocks performed negatively in May. Most PSU Banks reported increase in NPAs (non-performing assets) and restructured assets in March quarter results. This led to earnings downgrades, as market participants expect increase in credit costs which could offset the increase in profitability. The GDP growth decline and poor IIP data indicates a possible decline in credit growth outlook for the banking sector.

Outlook on Fixed Income Market

The present inflation level is higher than RBI's comfort zone of 5-6%. This prevents significant easing of monetary policy. Given this environment, key challenge for RBI is to manage inflation, while at the same time stimulate GDP growth. Although decline in crude oil prices would have a soothing impact on inflation, the rapid depreciation of INR could mitigate its impact.

We expect large Government Security issuances to be supported by OMOs (Open Market Operations) by RBI. This could keep yields from rising. Another positive has been easing of market liquidity position, as measured by Liquidity Adjustment Facility (LAF) window of RBI. The mid-quarter policy review of RBI in June is keenly awaited by the market and would weigh strongly on future movement of bond yields.

We expect GSec yields to be range bound in the near term and maintain a neutral stance.

Outlook on Equity Market

The fourth quarter results have been mixed. The deterioration in Euro zone has increased risk aversion globally. In our opinion, given the domestic and global macro-economic situation, equity markets are likely to remain volatile in the near-term. We believe that policy action by the government could be a positive trigger for markets. Based on current valuations, Indian markets look attractive from a medium to long-term perspective.
