Quarterly Fund Performance

October 2015 Edition

Global investors remained risk averse during the quarter amid disappointing news flow from emerging markets (EMs). Economic woes in China worsened with the policymakers' surprising move of devaluing its currency. This unleashed a wave of volatility in global equity, currency and commodity markets. This was followed by another round of monetary easing by China's central bank. This led to a sharp sell-off in equities and currency depreciation across emerging economies (particularly export-oriented countries). Brazil's sovereign rating downgrade by S&P to 'Junk' status amid mounting political problems and significant deterioration of its fiscal position further added to EM woes.

The US FOMC's decision of keeping rates unchanged in the September policy meeting did not provide the expected support to emerging market equities. The 'status quo' stance was triggered by heightened concerns about growth in China and other EMs.

India, being an integral part of BRICS and the broader EM pack, was also impacted. However, its equity market and currency outperformed its peers over this period of global financial volatility. Significant equity capital outflows by FIIs were more than offset by increased domestic participation. Fixed income markets, however, remained broadly unscathed.

Even as consensus growth estimates have been lowered post a lower-than-expected Q1 GDP print and unfavourable global economic scenario, a gradual domestic economic recovery remains on the cards. Further, despite a below normal monsoon inflation has been sustainably bettering estimates. This led to a surprise 50bps rate cut by RBI, accompanied by continued accommodative stance. Moreover, unlike other export-oriented emerging economies which are facing severe challenges on account of China slowdown and low commodity prices, India, being a net importer, stands to benefit.

Domestic macro-economic fundamentals are expected to continue to improve. Even as private investments may take a few quarters to come back, the government has increased expenditure to revive the economy. In addition to this, increased operating leverage amid low input costs and expectations of a gradual demand revival, coupled with lower interest costs, are likely to result in improved corporate profitability.

In the near-term, while global developments viz. Fed rate action and news flow from China may continue to keep markets volatile, Q2 FY16 earnings and Bihar elections remain key events to watch for on the domestic front. Nevertheless, India is in a sweet spot compared to peers and is likely to be favoured by foreign investors as a preferred investment destination, notwithstanding near-term volatility. As such, we remain positive on both fixed income and equity markets going forward.

India equity market fares better than peers: Global and domestic equity markets saw huge volatility last quarter led by 1) continued negative cues from China (growth, currency devaluation), 2) weakness in commodity markets, 3) depreciation of emerging market (EM) currencies, and 4) Brazil sovereign rating downgrade to 'Junk' status. This led to widespread selling by FIIs from emerging equity markets, including India. On a relative basis, however, India's equity market and currency performance was better than its peers.

Fixed income market rallies: The US Federal Reserve (Fed) chose to keep rates unchanged citing negative external developments. This, along with a surprise 50bps cut by the RBI towards September-end, resulted in a significant rally in fixed income markets in September.

Domestic economic data remains strong: On the domestic front, GDP growth slowed down a bit leading to lowered expectations for the fiscal. However, inflation, current account and fiscal deficit remained quite comfortable with robust outlook ahead.

Economic review

Growth slowed down in Q1 but gradual recovery on cards

India's GDP growth in Q1 FY16 (Apr-June 2015) came in at 7.0% Y-o-Y, falling from 7.5% recorded in the previous quarter.

Sector-wise growth: While industrial sector growth picked up to 6.5% led by buoyant construction sector, services sector growth remained robust at 8.9%, albeit lower than 9.2% growth recorded the previous quarter. Agriculture growth at 1.9% surprisingly did not reflect much of unseasonal rainfall related winter crop damages.

Growth expectations, after a modest Q1 and weak external environment, have been pared down. The RBI has now pegged FY16 GDP growth at 7.4% vs. its earlier estimate of 7.6%.

Further, industrial production growth and manufacturing PMI trend also continue to point towards a gradual revival in the industrial sector.

Annual and quarterly GDP growth trend

Index of Industrial Production (IIP) growth trend

Inflation remained low with comfortable outlook ahead

Wholesale price index-based (WPI) inflation remained in the negative zone for the tenth consecutive month, falling further from -4.1% in July to -4.9% in August. This was led by a sharp drop in fuel & power inflation (-16.5%) and manufacturing inflation (-1.9%) in August.

Consumer Price Index-based (CPI) inflation also remained quite comfortable at 3.7% in August, flat M-o-M but down significantly from June's 5.4% print, despite a below normal monsoon. Sequential drop in miscellaneous inflation was partly offset by an inch-up in food and housing inflation. As such, the central bank lowered its inflation projection to 5.8% for January 2016 from 6.0% earlier, expecting it to fall further to 4.8% by March 2017.

RBI cuts repo by 50bps amid low inflation

After a pause in August policy meeting, RBI surprised with a 50bps cut in the policy rate (repo rate) to 6.75% in the September meeting. This was led by 1) lower-than-expected inflation prints over last few months despite below normal monsoon, 2) weak capacity utilization levels, and 3) bearish outlook of commodity prices amid global slowdown. This has translated into cumulative rate cut of 125bps since January 2015.

While RBI has maintained its accommodative stance, focus in the near-term has shifted to liaising with the government in ensuring effective monetary transmission.

Policy rates are down 125bps in this calendar year

Other regulatory announcements by RBI

In addition to the 50bps rate cut, RBI also announced a host of other regulatory policies. These include:

- Increase in capital availability for lending to the corporate sector by reducing ceiling on banks' statutory liquidity ratio (SLR),
- Increase in FPI (foreign portfolio investors) limit in government securities in a phased manner and creating a new limit for state development loans,
- Rationalization of risk weights based on loan-to-value (LTV) ratios for individual housing loans, and
- Ease of overseas borrowing norms for corporates by allowing issuance of rupee denominated bonds with a minimum maturity of five years.

Government on track to meet fiscal deficit target for FY16

A sharp 36.2% Y-o-Y surge in indirect tax collections and a record surplus transfer of Rs 659bn from RBI led to narrowing of the fiscal deficit during Apr-Aug 2015 to 66.5% of the full year target as compared to 77.6% during Apr-Aug 2015. This was accompanied by a meaningful pick-up in government expenditure. For FY16, the government remains committed to meeting its fiscal deficit target of 3.9% without incurring any expenditure cut.

External vulnerability comfortably low

While Current Account Deficit (CAD) rose sequentially to 1.2% of GDP in Q1 FY16 (Apr-June 2015) from 0.3% in Q4 FY15, it was much lower than 1.6% reported in Q1 FY15 (Apr-June 2014). The RBI expects CAD to remain quite comfortable at 1.2% and 1.4% of GDP in FY16 and FY17 respectively.

INR outperformed EM currencies in the last quarter

Strong accretion to reserves over last 18 months has considerably reduced India's external vulnerability. As such, the INR has performed much better than other emerging market currencies in the last quarter.

Equity Market review and outlook

Sensex performance chart

July - September 2015

Negative global cues dragged markets down: Indian markets fell sharply during the first two months of the quarter, negatively weighed by risk-off sentiments caused by growth concerns in emerging economies. Currency devaluation in China, coupled with Brazil's sovereign rating downgrade to 'Junk' status, caused volatility in the equity, currency and commodity markets across EMs. In addition to this, uncertainty over the US Fed's rate hike action further weighed on market sentiments. This led to significant foreign capital outflows from Indian equity markets, amounting to -US$ 2.6bn during the quarter. However, it was more than compensated by domestic institutional investors, who invested a total of US$4.1bn on a net basis in the last quarter.

Domestic scenario: On the domestic front, while economic data broadly remained upbeat, challenges faced by the government in passing crucial economic reforms dampened investor sentiments. Further, corporate earnings remained muted in the first quarter, accompanied by downward revisions in consensus estimates.

However, markets recovered towards the second half of September, first led by the US Fed's decision to pause and later by RBI's surprise 50bps rate cut.

Sector-wise performance

Majority of the sector indices ended in red last quarter. Metal sector was the biggest laggard, with the S&P BSE Metal index down 26.8% as commodities extended losses amid possibility of lower demand from China. Other sectors which reported decline in double digits include Capital Goods, Infrastructure and Oil & Gas sectors, falling by -12-14% in the last quarter.

However, Information Technology and Healthcare sectors were the only ones to report positive returns last quarter led by INR depreciation. While the S&P BSE IT Index gained 10.8%, S&P BSE Healthcare Index rose by 7.3%.

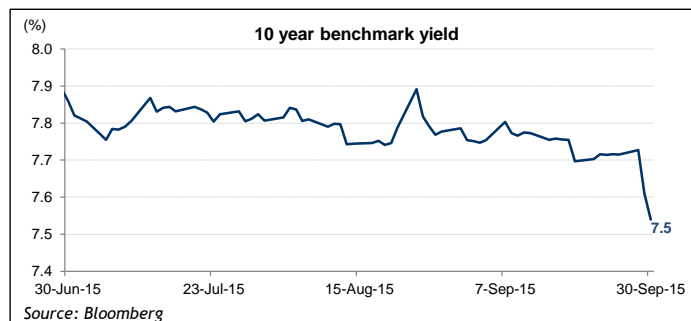

Equity Market Outlook

On the global front, uncertainty around the timing of the US Fed rate hike, coupled with news flow from China and other EMs, is likely to keep global equity markets volatile in the near-term. India, as an integral part of the broader EM pack, is unlikely to remain unscathed amidst this broad-based EM concern.

However, India is expected to continue to outperform its peers on the back of improving macro- economic fundamentals. Domestic earnings are likely to see some recovery from second half onwards led by a gradual demand pick-up, falling interest costs, and lower input costs. Notwithstanding near-term volatility, outlook of equity markets remains robust from a medium to long term perspective.

Fixed Income Market review and outlook

10-year benchmark yield performance chart

Despite global headwinds and uncertainty around the US Fed rate hike action, Indian fixed income market emerged broadly unscathed over the first two months of the quarter, signaling strong domestic macro-economic fundamentals. Yields softened substantially in September with the 10 year benchmark yield falling by -25bps during the month to 7.5%.

Global scenario: On the global front, the US Fed kept policy rates unchanged in its policy meeting on 16-17 September, accompanied with a dovish commentary, citing weakening external environment. Moreover, concerns of growth slowdown in China led to further decline in commodity prices. This, in turn, kept inflation under check despite below normal monsoon.

Domestic scenario: On the domestic front, inflation sustainably bettered estimates, resulting in a higher-than-expected 50bps rate cut by RBI towards September-end. Further, the central bank also announced easing of FPI limits in government securities to 5% of the outstanding position and created a separate limit for state development loans of 2%, both to be done in a phased manner by March 2018. This further improved sentiments of bond market investors.

Fixed Income Market Outlook

We expect fixed income markets to continue to remain buoyant going forward led by 1) sustenance of RBI's accommodative stance after the recent 50bps rate cut, 2) increased foreign institutional investor participation in government securities amid gradual relaxation of limits, and 3) government's continued focus on fiscal consolidation.

While some inch-up is expected over coming months, inflation is broadly expected to remain quite comfortable and within RBI's targets. Overall, we are positive on the fixed income market and expect yields to ease further. Risks in the near-term include disappointment on inflation trajectory and US Fed rate hike.

Quantitative Indicators

- Standard Deviation (SD) - It shows how much the variation or dispersion of a fund's daily returns has from its average. Lesser SD indicates that the daily returns are moving closer to the average. A higher SD indicates that daily returns are widely spread over a large range of value.
- Beta - It indicates how the fund is performing relative to its benchmark. If beta of a fund is higher than its benchmark, which is considered 1, it indicates risk-return trade-off is better and vice-versa.
- Sharpe Ratio - It measures the risk-reward ratio as it indicates whether higher returns come with higher or lower risk. Greater the ratio, better is the risk-adjusted performance.
- Average Maturity - It is the weighted average period of all the maturities of debt securities in the portfolio.
- Modified Duration (MD) - It is the measurable change in the value of a security in response to a change in interest rates.
- Yield To Maturity (YTM) - It is the expected rate of annual return on a bond if it is held till maturity. The calculation assumed that all interest payments are reinvested at the same rate as the bond's current yield.

Macroeconomic Indicators

- Gross Domestic Product (GDP) (Quarterly) - It is the market value of all final goods and services produced within a country. This indicator is used to gauge the health of a country's economy.
- Fiscal Deficit - This takes place when India's expenditure rises than its revenue. To fill this gap, the Government raises debt by issuing Government/ sovereign bonds. Fiscal deficit is usually compared with GDP to understand the financial position of the country. Rising fiscal deficit to GDP ratio is not good for the country, which requires immediate attention to cut expenditure and/or increase the source of revenue.
- Current Account Deficit (Quarterly) - It is a deficit where India's foreign currency outflows are higher than inflows. This indicates that the country is a net debtor of foreign currency, which increases the pressure on the country's existing foreign currency reserves. Current account surplus is the opposite of this.
- Index of Industrial Production (IIP) (Monthly) - The index represents the production growth of various sectors in India. The index focuses on mining, electricity and manufacturing. The ongoing base year for calculation of index is 2004-2005.
- Wholesale Price Index (WPI) (Monthly) - The index represents the rate of growth of prices of a representative basket of wholesale goods. The index mainly represents manufacturing (64.97%), primary articles (20.12%) and fuel & power (14.91%).
- Consumer Price Index (CPI) (Monthly) - The index represents the rate of growth of price level of a basket of consumer goods and services sold at retail or purchased by households.
- HSBC Purchasers Managers' Index (PMI) (Monthly) - Three types of indices - Manufacturing, Services and Composite Index are published on a monthly basis after surveys of private sector companies. An index reading above 50 indicates an overall increase in that variable, while below 50 shows an overall decrease.

Market Indices

- CNX Nifty Index - It is a well diversified 50 stock index accounting for 22 sectors of the economy. It is used for a variety of purposes such as benchmarking fund portfolios, index based derivatives and index funds.
- CRISIL Composite Bond Fund Index - It seeks to track the performance of a debt portfolio that includes government securities and AAA/AA rated corporate bonds.

Fixed Income Indicators

- Repo Rate - The rate at which the RBI lends money to commercial banks is called repo rate. It is an instrument of monetary policy. Whenever shortage of funds banks has, they can borrow from the RBI.
- Cash Reserve Ratio (CRR) - CRR is the amount of funds which the banks need to keep with the RBI. If the RBI decides to increase the CRR, the available amount with the banks comes down. The RBI uses the CRR to drain out excessive money from the system.
- Marginal Standing Facility (MSF) - It is a rate at which the RBI provides overnight lending to commercial banks over and above the repo window (repo rate). The interest rate charged is higher than the repo rate and hence it is used when there is considerable shortfall in liquidity.
- Statutory Liquidity ratio (SLR) - In India, commercial banks are required to maintain a certain percentage of their total deposits (net demand and time liabilities) in notified Government securities to ensure safety and liquidity of deposits. This percentage is known as the SLR rate. If the RBI or Central Bank reduces the SLR rate, it means that higher liquidity will be available to banks for their lending activity and vice-versa.

Others

- Foreign Currency Non-Resident (Bank) (FCNR (B)) - It is an account that allows non-resident Indian or a person of Indian origin to keep his deposits in foreign currency. Hassles of conversion can be reduced through such types of accounts.
- Swap - It is a derivative contract between two parties that occurs at a future date. It is used to hedge risk related to interest rates, currency and commodities movement. The counterparties exchange cash flows, if any, related to the instrument involved in the transaction.
